OneJet to begin Milwaukee service at John Glenn International

Twice-daily flights begin Nov. 1

COLUMBUS—Specializing in meeting the needs of business travelers, OneJet announced today it will enter the Columbus market by providing twice-daily nonstop service between John Glenn Columbus International Airport (CMH) and General Mitchell International Airport (MKE) in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, beginning Nov. 1.

OneJet specializes in point-to-point flights operated by small business jets. Passengers enjoy a variety of travel-enhancing benefits, including TSA PreCheck access for eligible travelers, expedited boarding, complimentary high-speed Wi-Fi, healthy snacks and national newspapers.

“We’re excited to introduce the Columbus region to the OneJet experience,” said Matthew Maguire, OneJet CEO. “These flights will offer nonstop access between two dynamic Midwest cities that are experiencing impressive economic growth. The convenient schedule of twice-daily service allows for same-day travel, which is important to business travelers.”

Below is the schedule:

Depart		Arrive
MKE	6 a.m. CT	CMH	8 a.m. ET
CMH	8:20 a.m. ET	MKE	8:20 a.m. CT
MKE	3 p.m. CT	CMH	5 p.m. ET
CMH	5:20 p.m. ET	MKE	5:20 p.m. CT

“We welcome OneJet to the family of airlines at John Glenn International,” said Elaine Roberts, President & CEO of the Columbus Regional Airport Authority. “Convenience is important to our travelers, and OneJet provides an option for nonstop Milwaukee service that will be beneficial to our business community.”

The airline will operate out of Concourse C, which boasts a recently expanded checkpoint, the new American Craft Tavern and additional food and beverage options coming in the future. Visit OneJet.com to learn more and book a flight.
